President and Mrs. Harding Entertain at Luncheon—Invitations for "At Home" at White House on May 26.

PRESIDENT and Mrs. Harding had with them at luncheon today Mrs. Carol Thompson of Ohio.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Harding received the delegates and members to the twelfth annual convention of the American Federation of Arts, and later she went to Walter Reed Hospital to attend the tea celebrating the third anniversary of Red Cross convalescent house.

Invitations for an at-home to be given at the White House Thursday afternoon, May 26, from 5 to 7 o'clock, are being issued by Mrs. Harding today. The event is the second of a series of three being given, and if the weather is adapted to outdoor entertainment the at-home will take the form of a garden party.

Mrs. Harding received the noted sculptress, Mrs. Sally James Farnham, whose portrait bust of the President was unveiled in the American Union building last evening.

Mrs. Coolidge returned to Washington early this morning after a ten-day absence spent in Massachusetts. She returned by way of New York and joined the Vice President at the New Willard.

The ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard will return late this afternoon after a stay of two weeks in Houston, Tex. Chicago and other points in the middle west where they were extensively entertained.

Bust of Unanne Unveiled at Dinner.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes were the guests in whose honor the ambassador of Peru and Senora de Pizarro entertained a distinguished company at dinner last evening, at the Pan American Union building. The only table was arranged around the fountain in the patio, where the date trees and tall palms of the tropics formed a beautiful setting. The fountain, in which vari-colored lights were reflected, was garlanded with smilax, white pink roses and ferns outlined the edge of the bowl, and also formed the decoration on the table, where great plaques of the roses and pink snapdragons were alternated with baskets of the same blossoms. Tall rose trees rose above the flowers on the table.

The guests were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, the ambassador of France and Mme. Jusserand, the ambassador of Russia, Mr. Boris Bakmeteff, the Secretary of War and Mrs. John W. Weeks, the minister of Portugal, Viscount d'Almeida, the minister of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes and Mme. Grouitch, the minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter. Senator Walter E. Edge, Mrs. Sarah Lee Phillips, Senator and Mrs. A. C. Pomeroy, Representative S. G. Porter, Representative and Mrs. Frederick C. Hicks, Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, Admiral and Mrs. William W. Kimball, Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Howry, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hitt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Bayard, Mrs. Henry P. Dimock, Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, Mrs. John B. Henderson, Mrs. James M. Jones, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Combs, Mrs. John Ballantine Pitney, Captain and Mrs. Clarence C. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Littauer, Mrs. George D. Hope, Mrs. James B. Haggin, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Salter, Mr. Farnham, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union, Mr. Charles Noble Gregory, Col. and Mrs. Leland Harrison, Senor Don Alvarez de Bueavista and Senor Santiago Bedoya of the Peruvian embassy staff.

Ambassador Makes Presentation Speech.

The dinner was followed by the unveiling of the bust of Dr. Hippolyte Unanne, founder of Peruvian independence, in 1821. His excellency, the ambassador, made the speech of dedication, in which he sketched the history of his country and the prominent part taken in it by Dr. Unanne. Senora de Pizarro then unveiled the bust, which was draped with the Peruvian flag and the Secretary of State, in a very graceful address, accepted the gift on behalf of the board of the American Union, of which he is chairman. Ambassador Pizarro then placed a wreath upon the bust of each of the great heroes of the South American republics in place in the Hall of Flags, and paid a glowing tribute to each for the part he took in the South American independence.

A reception followed, and the five hundred or more guests who joined the dinner company for the unveiling, which took place in the Hall of Flags, passed into the ballroom, where a large strangled orchestra played for the dancing. The guests were received by the Ambassador and Senora de Pizarro, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes. Senora de Pizarro wore a Paris gown of green and gold brocade with panels of filmy gold lace, the panel at the back falling from the neck line and forming a long graceful train. She wore a wreath of gold leaves in her hair.

Mrs. Hughes wore a gown of rose pink charmeuse slightly draped and made with a long pointed train; the bodice was even with gold beads and crystals, the design in points extending to the waist line from the round décolleté.

Among those invited for the reception were the minister of Norway and Mme. Bryn, the minister of Ecuador and Senora de Ellastier, the minister of Colombia and Mme. Ureta, the counselor of the legation of Honduras and Senora de Diaz, the charge d'affaires of the legation of Panama and Senora Ramona E. Lefevre, Senator and Mrs. Arthur Capper, Mrs. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, Mrs. Robert L. Owen, the attaché of the legation of Ecuador and Senora de Penabaz, Representative and Mrs. James R. Mann, Miss Julia Mattie, Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett, Mrs. Mona Blodgett, Capt. David S. Gallard, Col. and Mrs. George C. Thorpe, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Barnett, Gen. and Mrs. Charles B. Drake, the United States minister to Switzerland and Mrs. Hampton Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Tropp, Miss Cullen, the assistant military attaché of the Italian embassy and Signora Carlo Huntington, Miss Rooney, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Best, Col. Jennings Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Hight, Col. and Mrs. Matthew A. De Laney, Mrs. Henry Price, Wright, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cootes, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Christian, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wardman, Mrs. John H. McKenney, Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George Oakley Totten and Mr. John Barrett.

Mrs. Stephens, wife of Representative A. M. Stephens of Cincinnati, entertained a small company at luncheon at the Capitol today in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Ralph Jones of Stuebenville, Ohio, who will visit Representative and Mrs. Stephens for a few weeks.

Mrs. A. Ringold Brouseau of New Orleans and her son, Mr. Edward Douglas White Brouseau of New Orleans, but now living in New York, have arrived in Washington to attend the funeral ceremonies of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the late Edward Douglas White.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Oddie entertained at dinner last evening at the Cafe St. Marks.

Senator and Mrs. Lawrence C. Phipps entertained at dinner last evening at their residence, Single Oak, Woodley road, when their guests included Senator and Mrs. Richard P. Ernst, Senator and Mrs. Robert L. Stansfield, Senator and Mrs. Tasker L. Oddie, Dr. and Mrs. Hubert M. Work, Commander and Mrs. Hayne Ellis and Miss Hart.

Mrs. Knox, wife of Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, is spending a few days in Washington, having come for the garden party given by President and Mrs. Harding last Wednesday. Mrs. Knox will return to her home at Valley Forge, Pa., after a short stay here.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Barnett entertained at dinner.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby were the guests of honor at a dinner last evening of Maj. Gen. George Barnett, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Barnett. The guests included Maj. Gen. Henry C. Haines, U. S. M. C., and Mrs. Haines; Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Gary, the counselor of the British embassy, and Mrs. Henry Getty Chilton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren, Admiral Casper, Mr. and Mrs. Capt. and Mrs. Harlow, Capt. Mrs. Joseph E. Tropp has issued cards for an at home tomorrow afternoon, May 27, in her home, at 1701 20th street.

President Arrives for Women's Congress.

Mrs. Joseph R. Lamar of Atlanta, president of the Colonial Dames of America, has arrived at the Hotel Washington for the annual conference of the Colonial Dames, which will be held next week, opening Tuesday. Mrs. Lamar will hold a reception to the delegates next Tuesday evening at the conference of the Colonial Dames. The conference of the Colonial Dames will include reports of officers and committees, among them the work on the grounds outside the White House, where the famous Plymouth Rock, where the Pilgrims landed, is being restored. The portico is to preserve the rock, which has been put into its original place, and the work of restoring the original shore line.

Col. William E. Shaw of Pittsburgh, a former member of the Lafayette Escadrille, and one of the most famous aces in the war, and Mrs. Shaw were the guests of honor at luncheon Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Logan, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Logan later in the afternoon in their box at the horse show. Col. and Mrs. Shaw were in the city for a few days and they will return again to Washington for a visit in a few weeks' time.

Mrs. Harding Attends Tea at Red Cross House.

Mrs. Harding, accompanied by the President's daughter, Miss Laura Harlan, attended the tea given yesterday afternoon at the Red Cross Convalescent House, in celebration of the third anniversary of its opening. Mrs. Henry F. Rees of Pittsburgh, who was Red Cross field director at the time of the opening of the house, had the honor of presiding at the hospital, acted as hostess, assisted by a large group of Red Cross ward nurses, and the room was lavishly decorated with huge vases filled with peonies of various shades of pink, placed about on mantels and tables, and there were large clusters of vari-colored balloons, attached to the rafters, from which hung also many lighted bird cages, their little feathered inmates singing gayly. The tea table had a centerpiece formed of a cake placed in a white bowl with a red cross in the center. Three tall red candles marked the center and the edge was encircled with myriads of tiny red tapers from which ferns and smilax radiated to the edge of the cloth. The cake weighed sixty-two pounds and was fully ten feet square. Vases filled with red roses were at the corners of the table and Mrs. Kar, Mrs. L. V. Keller, U. S. A., the surgeon in charge, and Mrs. Doherty, wife of Mr. F. W. Doherty, in charge of Red Cross work at the hospital, presided at either end, and the ward workers assisted in serving the cakes and tea.

Upon arrival of Mrs. Harding and her party she was met by Col. James D. Glennan, commandant of the hospital, who escorted them to the room, where she was greeted by Mrs. Rea and her associates. Mrs. Harding wore an effective afternoon gown of taupe lace over jade green chiffon, with taupe gros grain ribbon arranged in loops about the skirt from the waist line to the hem. Her long taupe straw had a large bow of green metallic ribbon, veiled in taupe lace, as the only trimming. Her sable neck scarf gave a charming finish to her costume.

wounded soldiers playing pool, watching the base ball score and otherwise amusing themselves. Mrs. Harding had a cup of tea and a moment's rest, and then she went to the ward workers, whose work among the patients has been an example to the entire country. She also visited the patients in several of the wards who could not attend the tea, before returning to the White House.

The ward workers were their picturesque uniforms of gray linen with flowing gray chiffon veils falling from their white caps on which the insignia of the Red Cross showed, and prominent among them were Mrs. John Jacob Rogers, Mrs. A. Garrison McCintock, Mrs. Harriet Blaine Beale, Mrs. Monticomey Blair, Mrs. Edward A. Quintard, Miss Katherine Riggs, Mrs. George V. Mosley, Mrs. William Lewis, Mrs. Charles W. Rees, Mrs. Richard Fourchey, Mrs. E. O. Fox, Miss E. Osborne, Miss Grace O'Connell, Miss Mariel Denys, Mrs. Charles G. McRobert, Miss Marjorie Middleton, Mrs. Anne Brandon, Mrs. Hylton, Miss Anne Randolph, Miss Helen Oyster and Miss Kins. The group, which during the war confined its work almost entirely to the purposes for which the Convalescent House was built, that is, providing amusement and recreation for the men gradually regaining their health, now go about in the wards distributing the Red Cross supplies, which include cigarettes, matches, handkerchiefs and other articles necessary to the health and comfort of the patients. A number of canteen workers were present, as were nurses and aids, their uniforms adding a gay touch of color to the scene. Several hundred patients were seated about in the various rooms and on the grounds outside, which are now at the height of their beauty with flowering trees and plants.

After the afternoon, among them diplomats, prominent Army officials and smart residents, Miss Mabel T. Boardman was the arrivals, who stayed throughout the tea, and others present included Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, Mrs. Chadwick Carter, wife of Representative Carter, who is in charge of the motor corps; Miss Marjorie Lower, assistant R. C. F. D., Surgeon Gen. and Mrs. Morris W. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew A. De Laney, Mrs. Alexander Shepherd, Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, Dr. Tom Williams, Col. and Mrs. Henry Fisher and Mrs. Irwin B. Laughlin.

Miss Nancy G. Jones Weds. Mr. William G. Barnewall.

The marriage of Miss Nancy Gordon Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon Jones, to Mr. William G. Barnewall, son of Mr. Morris Barnewall of New York, took place last evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the Washington Club by Rev. James H. Freeman, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. The decoration was of pink and white peonies, the simple white prie dieu standing before tall Australian ferns and palms, with the heads of the peonies at either side. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pale green crepe de chine, the skirt gracefully draped and the bodice made entirely of rare duchesse lace worn by her mother on her wedding gown. The veil, a longloom in the bride's family, also was of lace and held by orange blossoms and pearls, fell to the floor and formed a train. Her only ornament was a string of pearls worn by her mother at her wedding, and she carried white sweetpeas and lilies of the valley.

Miss Eleanor Maguire was her cousin's only attendant and wore a gown of corn-colored georgette crepe with a sash and hat of orchid georgette and carried orchid sweetpeas and Ophelia roses. Mr. M. Rutgers Barnewall of New York was best man for his brother, who was also a string of pearls worn by her mother at her wedding, and she carried white sweetpeas and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, which was attended by a small company of relatives and intimate friends, Mrs. Jones's mother, held an informal reception followed by supper. Mrs. Jones
